Cohousing Now!

Positive.News, a UK publication, begins the conversation... With co-housing on the rise in the UK, it is touted as a model for better homes and stronger communities. In Brexit Britain, can this type of living – where decisions are made by consensus and everybody pulls together in times of crisis – also help us become better citizens?

Many people in the US believe we are currently in crisis ... consider this - do you believe that living in cohousing help us become better citizens?

The Stages of Cohousing Development

Cohousing development is a long and complex process which can be divided into stages. Each stage has different tasks and challenges and requires different resources and skills to navigate successfully. In this WebChat, Katie will describe the stages and what is needed to successfully complete each one.

What is Giving Tuesday?

In the midst of a holiday season that is much about shopping and consumerism, Giving Tuesday is a moment to pause and think about giving to those who are not on your holiday gift list. It is a time to support organization that share your values and act on those beliefs for the benefit of all. CohoUS is one of those organizations, bringing the world more collaboration, more connection, more skills and habits for protecting our planet and, of course, more common meals!

This season, we hope you will join others like you in supporting The Cohousing Association's Giving Tuesday campaign. When you do, an anonymous donor will match your contribution, to double its impact (up to $10,000). Click Here to make your donation today.
