This is what's happening in Cohousing Now!

Loving Community

CohoUS is excited about our first online conference of 2022. Loving Community will celebrate the joys of living in close connection with neighbors and address the challenges of sharing and caring that are inevitable when we live together.

We are currently accepting session submissions for that event here, due Jan 3, 2022. We look forward to posting the schedule and sessions early in the year. It will be good to be together again with our partners and friends as we begin 2022.

CohoUS News

December has been a time of transition for the association as we settle into new and changing roles. With Karin's departure at the end of November, Karen Gimnig has taken on the role of Interim Executive Director and is keeping all of our programs on track as we eagerly await our new Director.

To help her, we've hired Lotus Thomas as part time website and events support. You can see Lotus' excellent work on the Madison 2022 website. You can't see all the fabulous background work she is doing supporting the efforts of the association in this time of transition. We are lucky to have her hard work and amazing skill set.

We continue to build a program of events for 2022. Watch here and on our website for more details as we build out Madison and More with a balance of both an in person conference and many online offerings.

Partners

We hope you will join us as a 2022 CohoUS partner. We have programs for individuals as well as forming and established communities. Partnerships support all the work of the association and that support allows us to offer our partners some great benefits. Partnership is the least expensive way to attend online events (free for partners) and our live conference (discounted for partners). And you get the great feeling of knowing you are helping others to find and build cohousing where they live.

Cohousing Research Network - Cohousing Fact Sheet

Many thanks to the Cohousing Research Network (CRN) for this new fact sheet. It’s a great resource for sharing with potential members and with members of the press who may be writing about cohousing. We hope you will add it to your community websites and share it in your newsletters. We’d love the world to know more about how cohousing works.

Events

Madison & More!

In 2022, we will gather in Madison complete with hugs and late night drinks. AND (More!) we will gather online throughout the year to stay connected with those we miss in Madison. In addition, we’ll make some of the Madison sessions available as recordings. We hope you are with us for yet another new and exciting year in cohousing.
February - Loving Cohousing - online conference event
April - Cohousing Week - online events
April - National Cohousing Open House Day - live and online!

Flashback recipes

Cohousing has changed a lot over the years, but cooking for one another remains a joy, along with our love for good, wholesome food. CohoUS Staff has recently uncovered a stash of cohousing recipes. We hope you’ll enjoy them as much as we do. To add to this treasure chest, send your favorite recipe and a bit of the story, to staff@cohousing.org.
